

Swimming Pool Enclosures/Design Portfolio

The natural home for your new pool

Your new pool could be the spacious heart of an active home relaxation centre. Or an intimate hydrotherapy pool to promote health and wellbeing. Whatever your choice, Norwegian Log has an enclosure that will make sure your pool is both attractive and economical to run.

Norwegian Log pool enclosures are constructed in specially laminated 5"/125mm log (3"/75mm also available) for outstanding strength. This provides a high level of natural thermal insulation, for low running costs, as well as a rigid draught-free structure. And of course, wood is also a totally renewable raw material.

Log's natural charm means Norwegian Log enclosures harmonise unobtrusively with any environment. Log also helps minimise condensation, and its pleasant acoustics dramatically reduce the uncomfortable echoes that occur in some pool buildings. Inside, you have a choice of materials for lining your enclosure. We recommend our carefully selected split log, which gives a stylishly Scandinavian feel.

The pool to suit your lifestyle

This Design Portfolio includes a wide range of sample layouts based on the experience of clients' needs that Norwegian Log has gained over more than 20 years. However, Norwegian Log's versatile construction system can satisfy virtually any design requirement. Every building is made to order, so why compromise? With Norwegian Log, you can have all the advantages of a private pool complex without all the fuss. In many cases you won't even need Planning Permission*.

Norwegian Log buildings are installed quickly and cleanly, with minimal disturbance to your home and garden. And the versatile construction system makes it easy to include everything you need for a relaxed poolside lifestyle. A kitchen or bar perhaps, or a gym area for a workout as energetic as you choose.

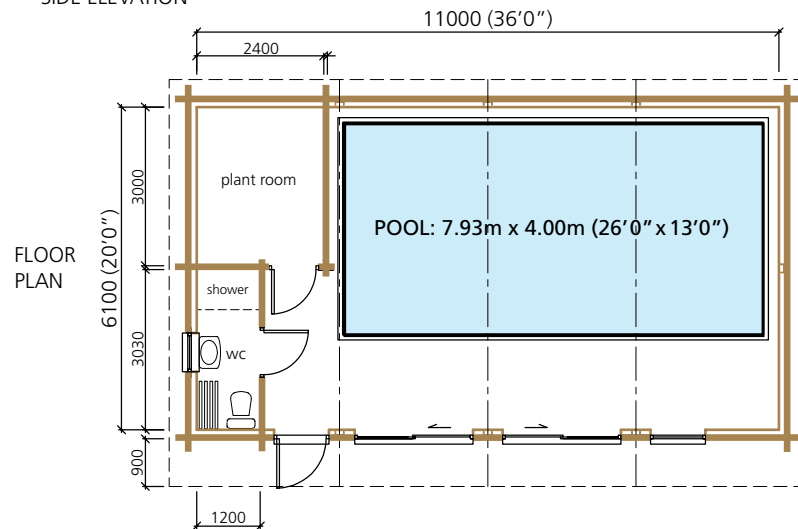

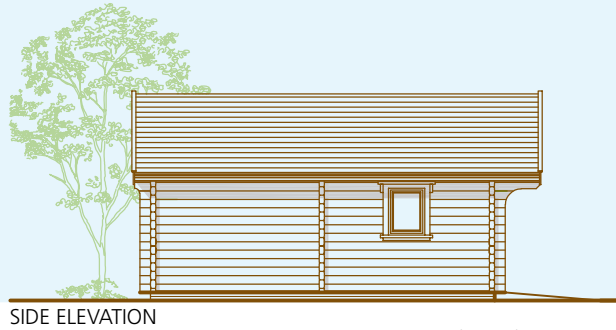

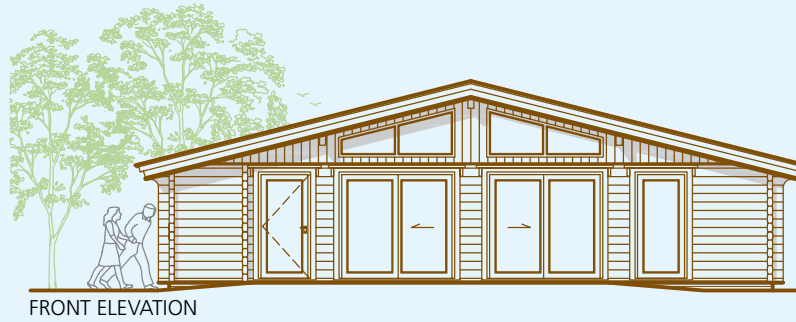

You could prepare for your swim with a sauna, for example. Then after a workout in the pool - or a tough day at the office - you could relax in your own spa bath. Warm and comfortable, with controllable massaging jets or air blowers, a spa is ideal for easing away your aches. Or simply socialising with family and friends. For more information about saunas, spas and other options, please contact your specialist pool contractor (see back page).
